

ABSTRACT

An angular positioning sensing system is provided including a rotary sensor configured to provide an absolute phase angle position. The rotary sensor may include a rotatable magnet and two, or more, magnetic field sensors spaced around an axis of rotation of the magnet. The output
5 of the magnetic field sensors may be coupled to a phase angle pulse modulation circuit and a PWM to analog circuit.